The department offers a bachelor of science or a bachelor of arts degree in criminal justice, an associate degree in criminal justice, an associate of applied science degree in corrections and in law enforcement, and a corrections officer certification program. The department also offers a master's degree in criminal justice.

The curriculum prepares students for careers in the broad professional field of law enforcement, adult and juvenile corrections with federal, state, or local criminal justice agencies or for graduate study. Police Academy

The associate of applied science degree in law enforcement provides students with the opportunity to obtain Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement Standards (MCOLES) certified training through its Regional Police Academy. Michigan Public Act 203, 1965 and Michigan Administrative Code R 28.4101 requires that anyone seeking employment in the state as a police officer must first successfully complete the basic (MCOLES) approved police training curriculum. For information about the academy, including admission requirements, contact the Police Academy at 906-227-1408 or the Web site at <http://publicsafety.nmu.edu/Academy.htm>.

Corrections Officer Certification Program

For those interested in employment with the Michigan Department of Corrections as corrections officers, NMU offers certification through a program approved by the Michigan Correctional Officers Training Council. A minimum grade of "C" is required in all courses in order to receive a certificate.

Admission to the certification program on non-degree status requires a high school diploma or equivalent. Students who feel that they need remedial work in writing skills should consider enrolling in EN 090. Correspondence courses or transfer credits may not be used for the corrections officer program.

Internships

The Criminal Justice Department offers students in the bachelor's degree program an opportunity to participate in an internship program during their junior or senior year. This experience provides first-hand knowledge about the criminal justice field and an opportunity to apply knowledge and skills in the classroom to a professional setting. Internships enhance a student's career potential after graduation as well as provide important information regarding career selection.
