

Mark '79 BS, Katherine '50s BA, '63 MAE, Art, Mary Adamini '85 BS, '96 MS and Alan '78 BS, '91 AS Feldhauser.

Contents

SUMMER 2007

DEPARTMENTS

- 2 Campus News
- 20 Sports
- 22 Alumni Association
- 24 Foundation
- 26 Keeping Track
- 35 Northern Perspectives

FEATURES

- 6 Four Generations. Six Stories. One Connection.
Across 95 years, the Feldhauser family has roamed the NMU campus, and there's no sign of stopping.
- 8 Strike Up the Band
When the DeVoe family gets together—ranging from John DeVoe '46 BS to Tom Golden '05 MA—it's sweet music.
- 10 The Computer Clan
Some siblings squabble over what to watch on TV. The three German children have grown up to develop computers and systems together, in the same company, with only the occasional noogie.
- 12 A Tribe of Teachers (mostly)
Memories of NMU in the '60s and '70s, from six Feldhusen brothers and sisters who immersed themselves in campus and Marquette life and doggedly pursued degrees.
- 14 Like Father, Like Daughters
In different fields earning different degrees, the Hytinen sisters and their father graduate together.
- 15 The Right Fit, Eight Times
NMU athlete Paris Malin didn't mean to continue her family's Northern legacy, it just happened to be the best school for what she wanted to do.
- 16 On-Campus Legacies
From Dining Services families to resident advisers to residence hall house buddies to sorority sisters, the ties at Northern are strong.
- 18 John D. Pierce Training School
From 1900 to 1971, Northern student teachers got hands-on teaching experience right on campus.

ON THE COVER: Mrs. Wilkenson's middle school class at John D. Pierce Laboratory School in the 1950s. Photograph courtesy of the NMU Archives.